11. Dear Peter,

I'm Li Juan from the Zhangjiajie Youth Lecture Group. I'm glad to hear that you're interested in "Ni Baobao", one of the mascots of the First Hunan Tourism Development Conference. Let me tell you something about it.

"Ni Baobao" is based on the Chinese giant salamander, which is a rare and protected animal in China. It has a cute appearance with big eyes and a friendly smile. The design combines traditional Chinese elements with modern style, showing the beauty of Hunan's nature and culture.

The mascot symbolizes the harmony between humans and nature. It also represents the warm welcome of Hunan people to friends from all over the world. I hope you can come to Hunan someday to see the real giant salamander and enjoy the beautiful scenery here.

Best wishes!

Yours,
Li Juan

12. Hello, everyone! My name is Ni Baobao. I am a lovely panda. I have a round face and two big, black eyes. My body is black and white. I often wear a beautiful Xilankapu scarf around my neck. It makes me look very special.

I am a symbol of friendship. I like to say hi to friends from all over the world. I also want to tell people to protect animals and take care of our nature. Let's be friends and protect the earth together!

Thank you for listening!

13. Dear Peter,
I’ m happy to hear from you. It’ s my honor to introduce the mascot to you. In fact, the mascot was designed from the protected animal in Zhangjiajie, giant salamander. Its name is Ni Baobao, which sounds cute and friendly. The design combines the unique features of the giant salamander with modern artistic elements. Ni Baobao has a big head, round eyes, and a long tail, looking very lively and adorable. It wears a traditional Tujia ethnic costume, showing the rich local culture. As the mascot, Ni Baobao not only represents the precious wildlife of Zhangjiajie but also symbolizes the harmony between humans and nature. I believe you will love this lovely character when you see it.
I’ m looking forward to seeing you in Zhangjiajie. Let’ s experience Tujia culture and enjoy the beautiful scenery.
Yours truly,
Li Juan
